

MARINE.

—The Atlantic was in nearly on time Tuesday.

—The City of Alpena was in on time yesterday morning.

—The grain fleet commenced passing down the first of the week.

—The tug Duncan City was inspected Friday and passed muster in the best of shape.

—The Flora arrived last Friday forenoon and called in, bound down, in the evening.

—The steamer Ivanhoe left Detroit Monday night to enter upon her new route, from St. Ignace to Manitowish.

—According to the Charlevoix Journal the Lawrence took 3,000 bushels of potatoes from Northport to Chicago and the Champlain 9,000.

—The propeller A. C. VanRaalte visited Mackinac last Sunday. It is the intention for her to make a trip to the island every Sunday.

—Vessel owners are greatly discouraged at the outlook for business this season, grain freights are on the decline and coarse freights are very low.

—The steam yacht Lady May left for St. Ignace Sunday morning. She will run between St. Ignace and Mackinac Island, making two trips per day.

—The tugs Castle, Crusader, Sweepstakes and Wilcox were at the dock at Mackinaw City Monday looking for the down fleet to put in an appearance.

—The City of Alpena was delayed so by the blow the latter part of last week that she was late arriving up and did not call in on her down trip Saturday.

—The Canadian tug International, of Windsor, came into port Tuesday forenoon to await the arrival of the down fleet from Lake Michigan expecting to pick up a tow.

—The Canadian schooner S. Nelson reported at the custom house last Friday afternoon on her way to Frankfort after a cargo of timber. She was the first foreign craft to report at this port this season.

—The City of Mackinac arrived up Monday morning but found so much ice in front of this port she did not come in on her up trip. She made her way through it and came in when bound down in the afternoon.

—The tug Kate Williams arrived Tuesday with a steam pump and diver, after the schooner Gerrit Smith. The diver will patch up her stern and the pump will be put on board and when ready a tug will be sent to tow her to dry dock.

—The Champlain arrived from Chicago Monday evening. Capt. Casey says they could not make Harbor Springs or Petoskey on account of the ice filling the bay. The boat comes out looking finely with her new dress of paint.

—The Minnie M. left on her first trip for Sault Ste Marie, Saturday morning. Capt. Pitman reports a successful trip. She arrived down Monday afternoon. She was well received along the route and fully meets the expectations of all.

—Captain Pollock cleared the Parana Saturday evening for Chicago with 400,000 feet of lumber, from the Duncan City mills, as her cargo, expecting to sail Monday, but the ice drifted in and blocked the bay so that she could not get out. She will probably sail to-day.

—We understand the Mary and Northern Belle will run on the inland route this season as usual, the Mary making daily trips from Mackinac to the Mullet Lake House, and return, and connecting at the latter with the Northern Belle for Oden, on the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad.

—The propeller Minnie M., Capt. A. F. Pitman, arrived last Thursday afternoon to enter upon her route between Cheboygan and Sault Ste Marie. She is a new steamer, staunch and fast, has a fine cabin and a number of large state-rooms, elegantly furnished. She and the Messenger will make as fine a daily line as could be wished for, between the two places.

—The Messenger cleared Friday morning in her second trip to Sault Ste Marie with a large load of freight and about forty passengers. She had so much freight to land at different points along the route that she was unable to reach the Sault the same day and did not arrive there until the next day. She left there Saturday at 1 p. m. and arrived down 11 p. m. that evening.

—It was the steam barge S. J. Macy, that passed down Tuesday morning of last week, instead of the Nahant. In addition to having the honor of being the first boat through the straits, bound down, she distinguished herself by being the first boat to get ashore, running aground near Presque Isle lights Tuesday night during the fog. She jettisoned about 6,000 bushels of corn and succeeded in releasing herself.

—The Ste. Marie returned from Bay City to-day.

—The schooner Benson and Manley left the Welland canal Tuesday bound for Cheboygan to load timber.

—Sunday the tug Peadell made a trip to St. Ignace to bring over Messrs. Dodge and Cowan, local inspectors.

—The propeller Peerless arrived at Duluth last Monday night, being the first craft to arrive from the lower lakes.

—The Toledo of the Buffalo and Green Bay line of steamers called in yesterday afternoon on her first trip for the season, bound up.

—The wrecking tug Leviathan arrived from Milwaukee Sunday evening. She is now stationed here ready to render assistance to any craft that may be so unfortunate as to get into trouble.

—The Lawrence, the first boat from Chicago, arrived Saturday forenoon and was the rest of the day discharging her freight consigned to this port. Capt. Thorpe is again in command. She left sometime during the night on her return trip.

NORTHERN TRIBUNE CORRESPONDENCE.

HEBRON.
May 11th, 1885.

It is some time since I noticed in your columns any communication from Skolar, and not wishing to have your readers imagine we in Hebron have been frozen out and discouraged by this cold and dreary spring I send you a few items of interest:

Mrs. H. Campbell received a few days ago the sad intelligence that her father living in County Cavan, Ireland, died of dropsy last October. Her people at home were so up set by the bereavement that they could not get time to send her word till now. She has gone into deep mourning.

We have had a happy reunion in our midst lately. Mr. E. Francis was joined by his wife and family after a separation of nearly 10 years. Those who witnessed the meeting say it was a most affecting sight.

Mr. Robert McKee leaves for the Beavers this week for a summers fishing. We wish him success.

N. B. We are having quite a boom here just now. William Ellis has opened out a new barber shop and expects to do a good business.

Spring work is progressing slowly on account of the cold backward weather. Hebron now has three school districts, two having been recently organized by the board of school inspectors.
